

Adopt Paris Agreement in North Carolina

Governor Cooper and the General Assembly of North Carolina:

Earlier this year President Trump issued an order that the United States would pull out of the Paris Agreement. This puts our state in potential environmentally and economic danger. Therefore, we the citizens of North Carolina believe we have an obligation to acknowledge the Agreement at the state level. We call upon our Governor and State Representatives to recognize the threat of climate change and to join other states and municipalities across the country to limit the effects of climate change and implement our own state policy based on the Paris Agreement.
